

LEGION PUTS ON BIG SHOW AT CLEVELAND

300,000 Persons Line
Streets To Witness
Procession

Cleveland, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The American Legion put on its big show today—a steady-moving, gleaming procession of world war veterans marching through the heart of the city the whole day long to the tunes of bands and bugles.

Legionnaires from Oregon to Florida dropped everything, including most of their traditional monkeyshines, to turn out in 'bright uniforms for the climax of their national convention.

One of the greatest crowds ever collected in Cleveland—Traffic Commissioner E. J. Donohue said, watched the veterans march under a sunny sky down Euclid avenue and then to the reviewing stand in Cleveland's lakefront stadium. Donohue said it was impossible to estimate the crowd accurately, he placed it between 250,000 and 300,000.

From the time National Commander Ray Murphy marched down the street under a shower of confetti, torn paper and colored streamers shortly after 9 a. m. (CST) the parade was a succession of highly colored marching units, shining bugle corps and bands.

Business in the downtown area was stopped by the demonstration. Most of the large stores closed.

People sat on the curb. Many brought lunches. Potato hampers, fruit crates and boxes sold for 50 cents. They climbed poles and clung perilously to window ledges. Thousands poured into the stadium.

As the spectacle unfolded, the crowd increased and the gasps increased in length and intensity.

The Illinois delegation took more than an hour to circle the stadium field. The Commonwealth Edison post of Chicago wore tropical sun helmets and uniforms of pale tan.

Appleton, Wis., rolled past the reviewing stand with an "over-the-top" tableau, motionless doughboys holding guns at "ready." Jerry Havelicka the one-man drum corps from Fox Lake, Ill., who somehow manipulated two drums, cymbals and a bugle at the same time was a popular man along the line of march.

A "40 and 8" contingent from Illinois had a joyous time firing bugle calls from a toy cannon into the crowd. They also had a wagon-full of convicts and some automobiles that seemed to move along on back-fires.

Gov. Alf M. Landon Pledges Farmers Cash Benefit And Conservation Payments

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Pledging farmer cash benefit and conservation payments, Gov. Alf M. Landon, presented to agriculture tonight a farm program he said was aimed at "the protection of the family type farm."

"It offers a practical means of attaining 'what we have been seeking—a free and independent agriculture,' the presidential nominee said, as he assailed any system which 'penalizes plenty and rewards scarcity,' or means a 'permanent control' from Washington.

Before the Kansan, as he believed his first major farm address from a brilliantly lighted speakers' stand at the edge of the fair grounds race track, was a big brick grandstand, jammed with people except in the far corners. Thousands more filled benches in the paddock. Police Captain F. E. Timmons estimated the attendance at from 15,000 to 18,000.

Speaking into microphones which broadcast his voice throughout the nation, Landon contended that after four years, the New Deal was "right back where it started from" and called its consideration plan "a stopgap, a subterfuge."

"What is the farm policy of this administration?" the governor demanded, pausing to look up at his audience as Kilg lights gleamed down on him.

"In my opinion it has none," the candidate answered his own question.

Landon wore a blue, pin-stripe suit and appeared rested after a few hours relaxation from a day's campaigning through Missouri and Iowa, and a hat waving open car ride in a parade through Des Moines streets lined with spectators who sometimes broke through police lines in their eagerness to see the candidate.

The Kansan was introduced to the Iowa audience by Miss Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction, as a leader from "a neighboring prairie state" whom the "crisis" brought forth "to champion the cause of all the people and to preserve their rights as American citizens."

As he concluded, a gate at one side of the fairgrounds enclosure opened, spotlights picked up an open car in which the governor stood, and he drove up to the speakers' stand as the crowd rose, cheering and applauding until Landon started his address three minutes later.

Applause punctuated the nominee's speech again and again as he read what he termed "a settled, workable, national policy for agriculture." Short, vigorous thrusts of his right fist were used frequently for emphasis, at other times Landon leaned forward and clipped his words for emphasis.

If elected, he said, all outstanding obligations incurred by the New Deal with the farmer would be fulfilled and relief checks and other assistance to the drought stricken continued.

"Let me repeat this part of the Republican program," Landon continued. "We will not allow needless suffering in this country—either on our farms or in our cities."

The crowd shouted when the candidate said: "I cannot agree with the president. I believe the American farmer should be 'A Lord on his own farm.' Laughter broke out when he said the New

An American Mystery

Most of our citizens long ago formed an opinion that Communism and Americanism will not mix. The average American shuns Communism, preaches against it, believes that its policies are subversive to good government. Scores of organizations are dead set against the spread of Communism in this country, sworn enemies of the small groups of men and women who are engaged in spreading its doctrines. Yet Communism enjoys some distinction under the law—it can claim a place on the ballot and enter its candidates in an election with the same freedom as other parties.

This is surprising to millions of patriotic men and women, who wonder by what means recognized foes of American institutions can force so far to the front. If Communism should be stamped out, if it is the back-wash of unsavory foreign sources, why should it be permitted to parade a list of candidates before the eyes of American voters? The answer is in America's own freedom, the right guaranteed every person to think as he pleases and vote as he pleases. It appears that there are no laws by which Communism can be denied a right to enter the political field, so long as it is accomplished legally.

The American Legion is not blind to the Communist party's activities in Illinois. The Legion has asked that the Communist organization again be denied a place on the Illinois ballot in November. The Legion claims that many of the Communist petitions are invalid because of allegedly forged signatures, and for this reason the party should not have a place on the ballot. It was the efforts of Legion officials in 1934 which resulted in banning Communist candidates from the ballot.

Judging from the history of the Legion's fight to rid this country of Communist movements, it is to be supposed that the war veterans are not interested in the mere legality of the question. They simply do not want the Communists operating, whether openly or under-cover. The Legion has filed no protest against other minor political parties which have entered candidates in the Illinois election, including Union Progressive, Socialist, Socialist Labor and Prohibition. It's fire is directed in one spot, and that is in the ranks of Communists.

The Drought's Lesson

A number of Illinois cities in the habit of going blissfully through the wet and dry seasons with little thought of the future may have learned a lesson from the unprecedented drought during the past summer. At any rate, there is a lot of lake talk around the state. Cities that before regarded their water supply ample for any emergency are now considering plans for stocking up heavily on Jupiter Pluvius. Jacksonville is one of them, but is by no means alone in the quest for a solution to the water problem.

At Marion plans are well under way to acquire a 30,000 acre tract of land and to inundate 8,000 acres for a lake to furnish water to adjoining towns, and for a park system. When finished, the new lake would be in close proximity to Marion, Carbondale, Herrin and Carverville. Proposals yet in formative state are under consideration for building a lake on the upper Sangamon, to form a reservoir for the cities of Urbana and Champaign. Springfield got in under the wire by finishing its huge lake before the arrival of the drought, thus taking care of a situation that might have been serious, although as yet no water has been pumped from the new lake. Every city feels more comfortable to know that it has a water supply to last indefinitely against all whims of nature.

The drought may be the means of bringing about a system of lakes in Illinois that will solve the water situation for a number of cities for all time to come.

A Boost for CCC

The Civilian Conservation Corps, organized primarily for rehabilitation of our forest resources, appears to be doing a good job of human rehabilitation, as well. Howard W. Oxley, director of CCC camp educational activities, reported to the War Department that 40,000 young men who were illiterate when they enrolled in the CCC now can read and write.

This is an activity which is every bit as important as the forest conservation work, or more so. The prime qualification for citizenship in a democracy is that a man be at least literate. The CCC, by bringing educational opportunities to men who had been denied them, is amply justifying its existence.

There are few who would quarrel as to the value of the CCC, and it should be possible to give a word of praise to its program without thought of the present political campaign. The CCC is not a partisan issue. It is a national program that bears general approval, and merits continued encouragement.

Texas Defends Roosevelt Program as First Genuine Farm Relief Provided Since World War

By Representative Marvin Jones
Chairman, House Committee on Agriculture

The Roosevelt administration is the first since the World War to make a sincere attempt to solve the problems of agriculture.

Other administrations have given the farmer promises. This administration has backed its promises by performance. Even its critics admit that agriculture's position has improved steadily since 1932. This improvement is all the more remarkable since it took place despite the droughts of 1934 and 1936, the worst on record.

The recovery of agriculture is strikingly told in the figures on farm income, debt, surpluses, in every trend. It is told in increased farm buying power; in the recovery of the nation itself.

Cash farm income rose from $4,377,000,000 in 1932 to $7,201,000,000 in 1935, and the estimated income for 1936 is more than $7,500,000,000. Approximately 500,000 farms have been saved from foreclosure. Farm indebtedness has been reduced approximately $1,000,000,000 since 1932. For the first time on record, tenancy decreased in the period from 1932 to 1935. The huge 1932 surpluses of almost every farm commodity have been eliminated.

For the first time, a systematic, national effort is being made to conserve and rebuild the nation's most valuable heritage, the soil. For the first time, also, farmers, through the AAA's benefit payments, have had crop income insurance. Commodity loans on corn and cotton have helped to stabilize prices. Steps have been taken toward additional crop insurance and toward programs that will decrease . . . tenancy.

Assaults Industrialists

In brief, government has given agriculture some of the protection and benefits that wealthy and powerful industrial groups had long demanded and received. Agriculture did not get real or lasting aid, however, until the special privilege groups had been driven from power by the man now occupying the White House.

I have been a member of the House Agriculture Committee for a number of years. I know that it is difficult to enact constructive legislation for agriculture under the most favorable circumstances. It is virtually impossible under an administration whose first concern is big business, and big business has been the first concern of every Republican administration since the war.

It is from every indication, the first concern of the present Republican leadership which has the powerful support of the Morgans, the DuPonts, the Rockefellers and others like them. They have fought every effective farm program ever demanded by farmers. They will destroy the present AAA if they can. They will block any alternative. They dominate the Republican party. I do not want to see the farmers' welfare again placed in their hands.

Cites Republican Failures

One of the big reasons for the depression was the collapse of farm prices and farm income which reached the lowest depth in 1932. Dominated by the views of Herbert Hoover and Andrew Mellon, the Republican administration followed policies that were unfriendly to agriculture. President Coolidge twice vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill. President Hoover promised prosperity to the farmers. He gave them the Farm Board and the Smoot-Hawley tariff act. The result was paralysis of farm buying power. The price of wheat went lower than it had been since the days of Queen Elizabeth. Corn was so cheap that it was being used as fuel. Cotton was the biggest bargain that it had been since the war between the states.

People were hungry within the shadow of the very warehouses where the huge stocks of wheat and pork were stored. People without jobs couldn't eat cheap food. When farmers quit buying, business collapsed.

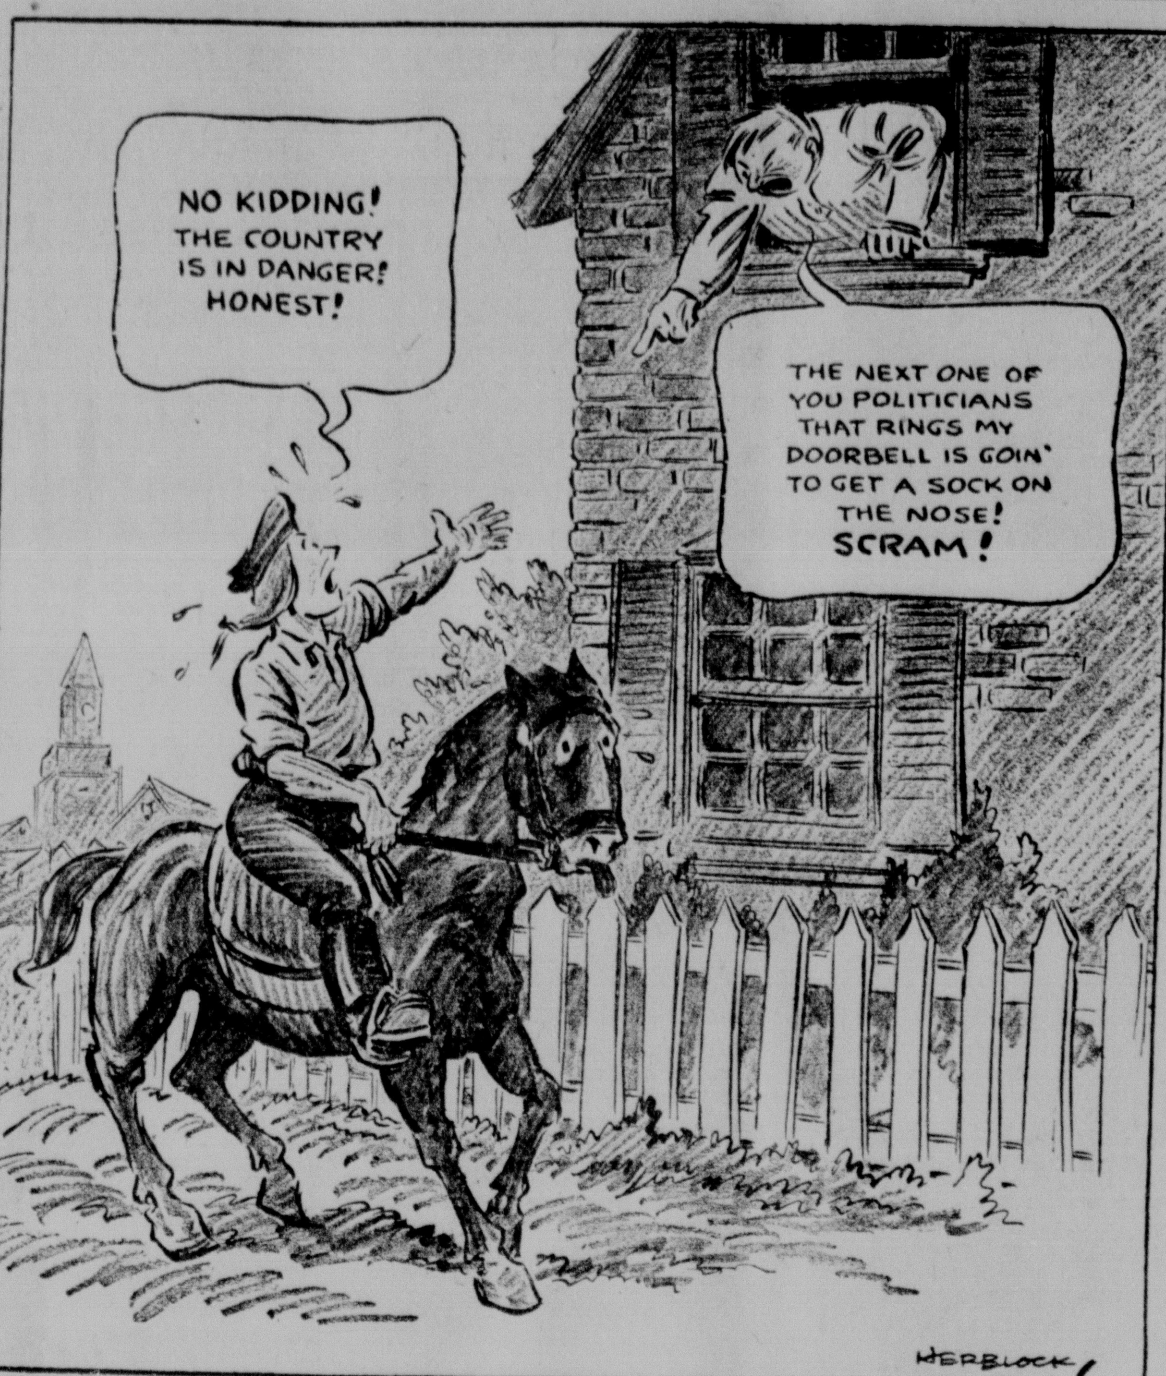

The Roosevelt administration faced the facts. It gave the farmers a national farm program. It worked with the farmers themselves in restoring prices and income. It used its powers to meet two great emergencies caused by drought. It is going to keep on working with farmers to meet their future problems.

Charges Empty Promises

After 12 years of inaction, evasion and disaster, what does the Republican party offer now? It offers another set of promises for 1936. They include many of the proposed panaceas of the past, and some new ones. All are vague and capable of two interpretations. Every high Republican spokesman including Governor Landon has assailed the AAA. The language of most of them sounds like the language used by the DuPont Liberty League, its Farmers Independence Council, and William Randolph Hearst, arch enemy of genuine farm progress.

Injuries Demand Prompt Diagnosis to Determine if Bones Are Broken.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBIEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygieia, the Health Magazine

When a person is injured in a fall, the first step is to find out how serious the injury is, so that the correct treatment may be applied.

It is necessary to know whether bones have been broken. For this purpose an X-ray picture is the most certain method of getting definite information. Any bruising or bleeding must be properly treated and controlled. If the skin has been damaged, it must have cleanliness and protection.

A doctor diagnoses the presence of a broken bone by the amount of hemorrhage that takes place, the swelling, the pain, the immobility of the fragments or loose ends of the broken bone, and many other well known symptoms. Then he arranges to get the parts back into proper relationship with each other, and to keep them in the correct position until healing occurs.

Before the doctor comes, it is wise to place the injured part completely at rest, and to hold it still with a suitable splint. There are, of course, ready-made and adjustable splints with which every doctor is familiar.

A home-made splint is sometimes made by folding a large magazine or newspaper many times about the injured limb, and then holding it in place with handkerchiefs tied at various levels.

If, however, the person who is applying the first aid measure is not absolutely certain of what to do, he or she should make the patient rest and keep him absolutely quiet until the doctor comes.

Whenever a person is struck with sufficient force, the tissues of his body are bruised. The first symptom of a bruise is pain. This is usually followed by redness and swelling. Later, the blood that has escaped from the blood vessels into the skin becomes coagulated, and the tissues turn black and blue. Gradually the blood clot is absorbed. During the process of absorption the solid blood material changes into fluid. At the same time the bruised area changes from brown to yellow and gradually disappears.

For most ordinary bruises, little immediate treatment is necessary. Small towels folded to make suitably thick pads may be soaked in ice water and applied directly over the bruises. This will lessen the pain. An icebag filled with ice cubes, or fairly large pieces of ice, will supply cold to the bruised areas for a long time without much attention by those who are doing the nursing.

Cotton has been produced in Jacksonville by Lloyd Conkle of Franklin street, who left a fine specimen at the Journal-Courier office Tuesday morning. The bunch of five bolls, containing many seeds, is of silky texture and of fine quality.

Cardinals Beat Reds 6 To 3; Cubs Wallop Pirates 11 To 4

Don Guttridge Drives 5 Runs Over Plate To Give Red Birds Win Over Reds

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—(P)—Don Guttridge, fleet-footed young third baseman, drove five runs over the plate with a single, double and triple today and enabled the Cardinals to retain their half-game second-place margin over Chicago by beating the Cincinnati Reds 6 to 3.

Mike Ryba, the Cardinals' jack-of-all-positions, turned in one of his best bits of work this season, relieving Henry Phippen on the mound in the second inning after the Reds had taken a 3 to 0 lead. He held them to two singles and no runs during the rest of the game to earn his fourth victory without a defeat.

Guttridge drove in Leo Durocher with a double in the second inning and tripled with the bases filled in the sixth to send three more over the plate. In the eighth he singled to score Johnny Mize, who had doubled.

As the Giants lost a doubleheader, the Cardinals gained a game and a half on first place, thereby remaining in the National League pennant race mathematically. With five games left to play they now are 4½ games behind the League leaders.

The Reds started the game with a bang the first man up, Harvey Walker, clouting the ball to the top of the right field pavilion for a home run. In the next inning Alex Kampouris repeated for Cincinnati, his circuit ball sailing into the left field bleachers and sending in Tommy Thevenow who had singled.

Benny Frey started on the mound for Cincinnati and held the Cardinals down until the sixth-inning bombardment.

The damage in that inning began when Art Garibaldi singled to center and Frey walked Pepper Martin. Joe Medwick then doubled against the right field screen, scoring Garibaldi and sending Martin to third.

Ray Davis came in to pitch for Frey and purposely passed Mize, filling the bases. Durocher forced Martin at the plate and then Guttridge connected with his triple against the left field wall, sending in Medwick, Mize and Durocher.

Walker Making Few Changes for J.H.S.

Seeks More Speed On Wings And in Backfield; Hold Scrimmage

Hunting for a combination which will be able to impart a little speed into the Crimson attack for the game with Beardstown under lights this Friday night, Coach Frank Walker began this week by shifting one man out of his backfield to an end position, bringing up another halfback from the second string and making an end out of him, and importing still another second backfield man into the varsity backfield.

Battling against a spirit of gloom which appears to hang over the J. H. S. camp, the Crimson coach sent Abel from the backfield to an end position, moved Bill Schildman from the second string backfield to an end position, and put Bob Hinkle in the varsity backfield to take Abel's place.

The Crimson coach dished up more scrimmages yesterday afternoon as he drove his charges in an effort to polish up the attack for Beardstown. All of the boys came through the Pittsfield game in good shape. Arthur Ball, center who injured his ankle about a week ago, may get back on the squad before the end of the week.

Meanwhile, Beardstown is watching the installation of its night lighting equipment. The equipment arrived Monday and installation has begun. It is doubtful that the Beardstown team will have an opportunity to practice under the arcs before the game, however.

The Crimson coach threatened a severe shake-up unless the varsity boys show more interest in the coming game.

Phillies Trim Giants Twice

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—(P)—The New York Giants will have to wait at least another day before they clinch the National League pennant.

Needing only two victories to nail the flag to the pole, they had their chance in a doubleheader with Phillies today but failed to come through, losing both games to Jimmy Wilson's last place club, 11-7 and 6-2.

The Cardinals victory over the Reds left the Gas House Gang four and a half games off the pace and the Giants still in need of two triumphs to win.

Only Carl Hubbell and Fred Fitzsimmons of Bill Terry's mound staff failed to see service as the Giants' pilot used six hurlers, four of them in the nightcap, in an effort to stop the Phils. Hubbell is slated to hurl tomorrow but the league leaders will need to couple a victory with a defeat of the Cards to complete their upward climb.

The first game was a slugfest with the Phillies collecting 15 hits, including Chuck Kleins 25th homer, off Al Smith and Clydell Castleman, and the Giants pounding Claude Passeau and Joe Bowman for 13 safeties.

A big seven-run session in the second inning, when Smith was knocked from the box and Castleman was slow in stopping the Phils, Morris Arno, rookie outfielder, drove in three of the runs with his second single of the inning.

The Giants finally sent Passeau to the showers after four innings but Joe Bowman, former New Yorker, did a good job of stopping his old teammates to receive credit for the victory. Bowman has scored two of the five wins by the Phils over the Giants this season.

In the afterpiece, the Giants stepped off in front with two runs in the first inning off Buckly Walters but that was all they got off the reformed infielder. Walters yielded eleven hits but kept them well scattered while the Phils drove Frank Gabler from the mound with a three-run rally in the fourth to take the lead and then added another off Dick Coffman on Dolph Camilli's 27th homer in the fifth.

Frank Gumbert in check after Coffman had been lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth but the league leaders could do nothing against Walters' fine hurling.

Scores: First Game New York 120 202 000-7 13 2 Philadelphia 071 002 01X-11 15 2 Smith, Castleman and Mancuso; Danning; Passeau, Bowman and Wilson.

Second Game New York 200 000 000-2 11 1 Philadelphia 020 310 00X-6 12 0 Gabler, Coffman and Mancuso; Walters and Grace.

Tommy Whelan, mentioned above, is assistant at Monmouth, where he graduated last spring. Willard Benson, an Illinois Wesleyan graduate, is helping Coach Harry Bell, Lou Zarza, a Michigan State graduate, is helping Coach John McNamara at St. Viators. Robert Courtney has been given a job helping his former team-mates at Southern Teachers, and Illinois College has its own Willis Munger working as an assistant coach.

The Little 19 season will open with one game this week-end. The conference schedule is as follows: Friday, Sept. 25—Ferris Institute (Big Rapids, Mich.) at St. Viator. Saturday, Sept. 26—Shurtleff at McKendree; Millikin at Ripon; Bradley at Washington U. (St. Louis); Augustana at Iowa Wesleyan; Parsons at Western Teachers of Macomb; Illinois Wesleyan at Centenary (Shreveport, La.); Whitewater, Wis. Teachers at Northern Teachers of DeKalb; Arkansas Aggies at Southern Teachers of Carbondale; Aurora at North Central; Elmhurst at Mission House (Plymouth, Wis.); Wabash at Illinois College; Wheaton at Adrian (Mich.);

Joe Louis Scores Knockout Over Al Ettore In Fifth Round At Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—(P)—Detroit's brown bombing Joe Louis carved another notch in his knockout gym tonight by stopping young Al Ettore, Philadelphia Italian, in the fifth round of their 15 round bout in the Philadelphia municipal stadium.

A huge turnout estimated at 40,000 roared as the 22 year old Negro floored a game but over-matched Ettore twice before polishing him off with a pair of short but paralyzing left hooks after 1:28 of one sided milling in the fifth.

It was in this same huge stadium almost ten years ago to the day that the fighting Marine, Gene Tunney, took the world's heavyweight championship away from Jack Dempsey before a record crowd of 120,000 rain soaked spectators.

Louis won all but one round of the abbreviated contest. Ettore's aggressiveness, his willingness to mix and the fact that he made Joe miss several rights earned the Philadelphia a draw in the third.

Scaling 203½ to Ettore's 189, Louis had the Italian on the canvas once in the first, once in the fourth and once in the fifth when he landed with his haymaker.

Making his second start since his smashing defeat by Max Schmeling in New York last June, Louis chalked up his second straight victory. Four weeks ago he stopped Jack Sharkey in four rounds in New York. It was the Negro's 25th knockout in his 30 professional fights.

Louis had trouble getting set for his Sunday punch in the early rounds to night, but once he solved Ettore's swarming and somewhat puzzling attack and found the range with his seige guns, there never was any doubt of the outcome.

Ettore proved as wide open for Joe's right as Louis was for Schmeling's. Joe threw rights for two heats, then switched to his left. This weapon accounted for the last two knockdowns. With Ettore dazed and foggy in the fifth from a savage barrage of rights and lefts to the head and body, Louis crowded him into the ropes and cut loose two short but vicious lefts to the head. Ettore hit the canvas for the third time.

After taking a count of nine he tried to drag himself to his feet, but he was too far gone. Just as the time-keeper told ten Ettore pitched forward on the ropes and it was all over.

In the fourth after battering Ettore all over the ring, first with rights, then with lefts, Louis landed a left laden with TNT flush on the Italian's jaw. This time he took a count of nine, but it was apparent he could have returned to the slaughter earlier.

The first knockdown came soon after the opening bell. Ettore tore out from his corner and after making Joe miss a blow or two ran smack into a right to the jaw. He hit the deck but got up at the count of three.

At times prior to the fourth when he really went to work, it seemed Louis was feeling his way along, looking for a spot to slip in a sleeper producer. At times the Negro appeared puzzled by Ettore's unorthodox style.

White Hall—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ligon returned to their home here Saturday after spending several weeks in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Hoover near Milton, Mo.

The looking after the home and farm, while Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were on a twenty-five day tour of the northwest, Mr. Hoover was formerly Miss Flossie Ligon of this city.

In telling of her trip Mrs. Hoover said that they traveled 5,437 miles and used two hundred gallons of gasoline. They went through the Black Hills in South Dakota and saw the faces of the famous men which are being carved in the stone in the side of the hills there, also visited Deadwood, South Dakota, which they thought was one of the prettiest places they visited. It is a town of 8,000 people and the city is built in tiers, one above the other.

They visited Mrs. Hoover's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ligon, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Davis, in Lambert, Montana, who are also former White Hall residents, and went through Yellowstone park both going and coming.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have relatives in Spokane, Washington, whom they visited. There they saw the Soap Lake in which the water is like sudsy water, and many people come there for the curative qualities of the baths. It is located 122 miles west of Spokane. They also visited the Coulee Dam which is now under construction, and visited America's only electrical city, in which everybody uses only things run by electricity, including heat, power and light.

Coming home they crossed the Shoshone Dam and stopped in Lincoln, Nebraska to visit friends, and admired the beautiful new capitol building. They also visited W. J. Bryan's old home which was recently donated to the Methodists who have converted it into a hospital.

LEAVES FOR DAVENPORT Mrs. C. O. Mattingly left Monday for her home in Davenport, Iowa, after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moses DeOrnellas, 853 North Prairie street.

W. Spradlin of the Murrayville community was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

Blueboys Romp, Tussle With Frosh

Yearlings Give 3 Scores Then Take Ball Away from Varsity Near Goal

Illinois College's freshmen football players had a lot of fun with the varsity yesterday afternoon, giving the varsity boys three touchdowns at the start of the second scrimmage between these two teams, and then taking the ball away from them twice within a few yards of the goal.

The scrimmage, ordered by Coach Ray Nussipick to get his Blueboys ready for their only early season home game, with Wabash university here Saturday afternoon, did show the coach that he has a lot of polishing to do on an offense that he had hoped would operate smoothly. The coach was undecided whether he would have any more scrimmages this week, but was of the opinion that he would take the boys into their first game with only two brushes against the yearlings.

The coming of the Little Giants is exciting considerable interest on the Hilltop, where the boys worked thru yesterday's torrid heat. Only one of the boys called for relief, because of the heat, and there were no injuries that would handicap the team.

Both Coaches Nussipick and Willis Munger, who is in charge of the freshmen, used every player on their squads. The varsity line of Lorenz and Hartons, ends, McWard and LaRossa, tackles, Bluffhardt and Ballard, guards, and Bendel, center, had little difficulty brushing aside the freshmen.

Co-captain Ray Smith demonstrated that he will be ready for the first game by leading the varsity to its first touchdown, and Russell Spuehr, who led the dash to the second mark, along with Sammy Mangieri, Tony Donat, at quarterback, directed the play. Both Spuehr and Mangieri made long gains through the freshman defense.

Coach Munger started Hasara and McCarty at ends, Peabody and McGowan, tackles, Trost and Stalega, guards, Hartman, center, in the line, and then sent in Darr, Hopper, Adolphson and Richardson. Rammelkamp, Tors, Mader and Wilson made up the freshman backfield.

Peabody stood out on the freshman team, making most of the tackles and gumming up more varsity plays than all of the rest of the team. The yearlings couldn't get their offense to clicking sufficiently to gain ground against the varsity, but did catch the veterans asleep on one occasion with a quick kick.

Peabody stood out on the freshman team, making most of the tackles and gumming up more varsity plays than all of the rest of the team. The yearlings couldn't get their offense to clicking sufficiently to gain ground against the varsity, but did catch the veterans asleep on one occasion with a quick kick.

St. Louis, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Army sent Howard Creel of Pueblo, Colo. into the third round of the National Left-handers' Golf Tournament tonight even more easily than he had advanced to the second round today.

The leave of Maj. John F. McCulloch of the Army Air Corps, who flew here to participate, was up and he had to return to Philadelphia, forcing him to default his second round match with Creel tomorrow.

The Major defeated W. M. McDonald of Schenectady, N. Y., 6 and 5, in the first round today in a match in which McDonald lost a hole during the first 18 by playing the wrong ball twice.

Creel, who doesn't take any stock in the argument that a left-hander is at a disadvantage in golf, continued his steady par game to swamp Jesse Drev of St. Louis, 14 and 12, in their first-round encounter. The medalist and favorite to win the title and the Richard H. Walke trophy, he finished the first 18 holes 8 up and then won six straight holes in the afternoon round to end the contest.

Sam Arnold of Kirksville, Mo., whose 150 to Creel's 141 made him the second low qualifier yesterday, scored a 7 and 5 triumph over R. F. Koopman of Chicago. Arnold, Missouri state southpaw champion and seeded first in the lower bracket of the tournament, was a favorite to emerge to the finals with Creel.

White Hall—The Carrollton Jeeps, girls softball team sponsored by the Greene County Recreational project under the direction of Robert Potts, have a silver trophy to display for their ability to play the game. They won first place in a tournament held at Mt. Sterling last Saturday by defeating Quincy girls 4-3 and Gilchrist 29 to 10.

Vivian Varble won the game against Quincy with a home run in the sixth inning. The blow came when the score was tied and gave the Jeeps their winning margin.

Roodhouse and White Hall teams were eliminated in the early rounds of the men's tournament, and the Jacksonville junior boys went to the finals in their division before losing to Beardstown.

White Sox And Indians Tie 8-8

Cleveland, Sept. 22.—(P)—The Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox battled to an 8 to 8 tie today, the game being called at the end of the 12th inning on account of darkness.

Earl Averill, Cleveland outfielder, tied up the game with a home run in the ninth inning with no one on base. The White Sox had bunched six runs in the second inning and two in the fifth to build up a comfortable lead.

Neither team threatened after the ninth inning. In the Chicago half of the 12th, Hughes was hit in the face by Radcliff's boulder and had to retire from the game.

Good Planning Best Means of Assuring Desired ChangesArchitect Great Aid to Both Builder and Contractor; May Buy Plans

Not many years ago it was the custom to begin building a house, or do some remodeling without much planning, but all of this has changed in recent years. Air conditioning, heating and ventilating, insulating, plumbing, electric wiring and other various details of building and remodeling have brought about great changes in the procedure.

There are many things to think about when building a home, but the chief thought that worries most builders is "Will I like my home after I get it built." The answer to that question is simple. "How well planned is your home?"

The best way to be sure that the home will be just what is wanted is to have an architect plan it. Then it is possible to incorporate into the home the various features which it is believed will bring comfort.

The architect holds a peculiar place in the building trade. He is qualified to plan the home and to act as the representative of the builder during the construction work. It is his duty to represent the builder in all transactions, and to advise the builder on all things, if the builder so desires. It is quite often that the architect's technical knowledge, and knowledge of other phases of building can be turned to the advantage of the builder.

Architects are able to plan homes or remodeling work which will come within the amount of money which the builder will have available when actual construction begins.

There are other methods of obtaining plans for homes, and for remodeling work. It is advisable to have an architect plan a new home, particularly if there are several unusual features which it is wished to utilize. Carpenters and contractors usually are able to give an estimate on the cost of remodeling operations if the project to be undertaken is not on a large scale. They can do it on a large scale also, but many contractors would rather see plans and specifications prepared by an architect before they make a bid on the work to be done.

There is no question as to what is to be done if full plans are submitted to the contractor. The plans are the basis of his bid, and there can be no dispute about what was intended and not intended.

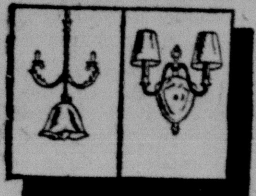

There are numerous other agencies offering plans for new buildings. A number of lumber dealers here carry a plan service, through which it is possible to select both the exterior and floor plans of a house of almost any size. The plans for the homes are for sale, along with specifications and bill of materials.

The plans and specifications may be submitted to a contractor and the bill of materials to lumber dealers for bids, or the plans, specifications and bill of materials may be submitted to contractors, for bidding purposes.

There is more to be done, however, than merely erecting the walls, roof and installing the floors. There is the problem of heating the home efficiently and economically. There is also the problem of installing plumbing and plumbing fixtures. Gas installations, electrical installations and other details also need the services of men qualified in these lines.

PROPER VENTILATION

If the top-floor rooms are hot in summer, the first thing to do is to see if there is proper ventilation of the attic space above. Just having windows isn't enough; they must be opened, and that is a nuisance, for they must also be closed every time it rains. So, if possible, insert louvers at every gable end as close to the ridge as possible.

RUMPUS ROOMS EASILY CREATED IN WASTE SPACE

A basement recreation room that the entire family could enjoy and that would not be a strain on the finances was the aim of a home owner who created a den in the corner of his cellar.

A part of the basement being made into the recreation room was painted ivory. A composition floor was laid over the concrete base and a discarded summer rug added. Electric outlets were installed to provide proper lighting.

Sectional book cases filled with favorite books, a desk, with few occasional tables, comfortable chairs, and a couch formerly used in the rooms above were placed to advantage in the room.

The children of the family used the room as a study, and a large map of North America on the wall afforded instruction and made a colorful wall decoration as well.

CUPBOARDS USEFUL

Many a dining room can be improved in looks and made more useful by building in corner cupboards. These may be real places to store china and glass, or they may be purely decorative and contain just a few choice bits for display. If the former, it would be better to have doors to shut out the view; if the latter, however, no doors should be used, and the shelves can be cut in in delicate patterns to add to the decorative effect.

GARAGE DOORS

Garage doors lifting up overhead when they are open are proving convenient and popular.

MANY USES FOR BASEMENT SPACE

The modern basement is an orderly place, unlike the old-time catch-all for broken furniture, etc., and the container of coal and dust bins.

Many home owners have discovered that this space can be converted into pleasant rooms and in many cases modernization funds may be obtained for this purpose from a private financial institution which holds a contract of insurance with the Federal Housing Administration.

The basement of one home in which there were several children was converted into a playground for rainy days. There was a sand pile, see-saw, a table for ping-pong, and other games. Gay pictures decorated the white walls.

BOOK CASES

A novel arrangement for built-in book cases is to have them frame a door or window. The shelves may be built with neat precision or may be constructed to suit the whimsy of the housewife with a liking for tall, slim vases and low squat bowls along with the books.

Shelves may be built in with funds obtained from a private financial institution which holds a contract of insurance with the Federal Housing Administration.

WATER BLOCK

Where leaders or downspouts empty on the ground, there should be a concrete or stone block to take the force of the water as it leaves the pipe and spread it over as large an area as possible.

There are 30,000 street traders, or peddlers, in London. Of this number, 700 are sandwichmen.

NEW USES FOR GLASS FOUND IN MODERN HOMES

The modern homemaker is finding new uses for glass. Walls, mantels, fireplaces and screens are being manufactured from this material.

Glass-tile walls come in many colors for bathroom walls. Spray panels of glass frequently replace shower curtains; dressing tables of glass and occasional tables may be found. Mirror panels for mantels and even wall partitions are found of glass brick.

Unusual and pleasant lightning effects may be obtained by the introduction of electric lighting arrangements hidden in the glass paneling. The concealed light shining thru the glass has a softening effect and adds to the attractiveness of the room.

ADEQUATE CLOSETS KEEP ROOM ORDERLY

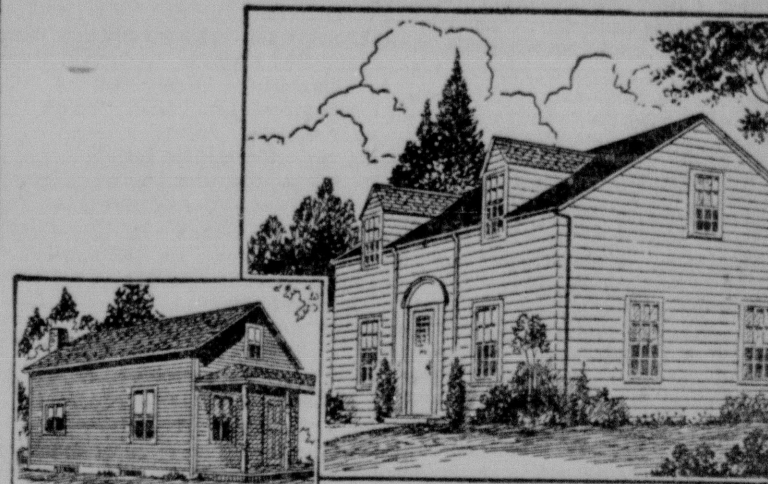

A bedroom without necessary closet space is difficult to keep in order. By the use of wallboard or other material, closets may be built readily and without prohibitive expense.

One closet on either end of a wall, with the intervening space for dressing table or bed, can be effective and useful.

REDECORATING

A desire for change in living quarters is sometimes appeased in a simple and inexpensive manner by refinishing floors, redecorating rooms, or painting woodwork.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign
For This October

Chairmanship of Drive;
Set Up Offices

Preliminary plans for the 1936 Y.M.C.A. Forward Movement Budget campaign were made at a conference of association leaders at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters Monday evening.

Dr. Ellsworth Black, president of the Y.M.C.A., announced that Dr. Clarence P. McClelland, president of MacMurray College, has accepted the chairmanship of this year's campaign to be held early in October. He has chosen as his lieutenant Dr. H. J. Lennox, who is associated with him in MacMurray College.

President McClelland is at present forming his campaign cabinet to consist of the leaders of four divisions of twenty workers each. One division will be composed of women friends of the youth of Jacksonville, making a campaign organization of eighty citizens. It was decided to accept the invitation of Secretary R. E. Welch of the Chamber of Commerce to establish headquarters in their quarters in the New Dunlap hotel. A special telephone will be installed, call number of 4000 has been assigned. Miss Lucy Robinson will serve as office secretary.

Owing to the splendid success of last year's campaign under the leadership of Dr. H. C. Jaquith of Illinois College, who had associated with him E. E. Crabtree and E. E. DeWitt, there has been an enthusiastic response of the workers to enlist in the coming campaign.

It is hoped to raise sufficient additional funds this year that limited repairs and improvements, which are so greatly needed, may be made to the brick house at 423 West State, which the association has as its headquarters. However, the repairs will not be very extensive as it is hoped that within a few years it may be possible for Jacksonville to provide funds for a modern "Y" building on that half block which was purchased several years ago as a building site and is still owned, unencumbered, by the Jacksonville Y.M.C.A.

Breaks Leg While

Washington, Ind.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, former United States minister to Denmark and the daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, suffered a broken left leg in a fall here last night. An X-ray examination disclosed the injury today.

Mrs. Rohde fell shortly after she completed a speech here in which she urged the reelection of President Roosevelt. She was running beside her automobile in an attempt to get into it and stop its dash toward a small lake.

Mrs. Rohde was in the car at the time. He had attempted to turn it around on a hillside when it got out of control. After Mrs. Rohde fell, the car continued downhill, finally stopping against a tree. Mrs. Rohde was not injured.

They said, however, she could be removed from the local hospital within three or four days.

TREE CATCHES FIRE; BLAME IT ON BEES

Tree Chopper Tries to Smoke Them Out; Fire Department Called

A swarm of bees caused a fire in a tree yesterday at the home of Dr. Carl E. Black, 1302 West State street. The bees didn't actually start the blaze, but they were responsible for its origin. It was this way:

A workman arrived at the Black home for the purpose of cutting down a tree. He climbed it to attach a rope, when a squad of bee lookouts zoomed around him, and threatened to engage in aerial combat.

The tree climber thought he would smoke out the bees from a hollow in a tree, starting a fire where it would do the most good. The fire threw off considerable smoke and a fire alarm was turned in.

While the swarm of bees went house-hunting the firemen put out the blaze, permitting the tree-chopper to tackle the job where he was forced to leave off.

THE foot of a spider is covered in toothed claws, somewhat resembling a comb. This arrangement makes it possible for the spider to place its feet on each individual thread of its web as it travels along, without breaking the strands. Other insects make no effort to walk on the tiny lines, and become hopelessly entangled.

College Freshmen To Register For Courses Today

MacMurray Students to Give Program on "Traditions" This Evening

MacMurray's new freshmen will be occupied throughout the greater part of today, the second day of the orientation program, with registration for courses and with medical examinations. This evening the Student Government Association will present a program on "College Traditions" which has been prepared by Miss Mary Pascoe, popular junior from Evansville, Indiana. The affair will be held in the social room and will begin at seven o'clock.

Yesterday the class was welcomed to the college at an assembly in music hall. After listening to greetings from President McClelland, President Emeritus Harker and Dean Hawkins the students went to the next thing on the program, the taking of an English placement test which occupied them until noon.

After lunch a number of miscellaneous placement tests were succeeded by a program in the social hall. Prof. Gertrude Bengs spoke on "The Curriculum." She was followed on the program by Prof. Isabel Stewart, whose topic was "The Larger Life."

The latter part of the afternoon was spent on taking a tour of Jacksonville, arranged by the Town Girls' club and under the supervision of Miss Mary Frye.

The last function of the day, and one of the outstanding events of the week, was the faculty's reception for freshmen. After a social hour a brief program was presented. Mr. Hugh Beags played a piano solo, and was followed by Prof. Margaret Chase Schaeffer in a reading. Miss Mahalia McGee then offered a piano composition. The final attraction on the program was a violin solo by Mr. Donn Watson, the newly appointed instructor in violin and public school music. He was accompanied by Mr. Beags.

Edgar Thompson, Virginia, Is Hurt In Gas Explosion

Cass County Farmer Suffers Burns in Accident at His Residence

Virginia, Sept. 22.—Edgar Thompson, prominent farmer and stock raiser, residing southwest of Virginia, was painfully burned this afternoon while changing a tank of a gas stove in the basement of his farm home.

Mr. Thompson had some difficulty in making the change and procured a hammer to pound a pipe into place. It is believed that when he struck the pipe a spark ignited the gas fumes causing a minor explosion.

The farmer was burned about the knees, hands, face and head, but his clothing was not burned.

Mr. Thompson rushed to the yard in a dazed condition. His wife hearing the blast rushed to his aid and reached her husband's side just as he collapsed.

He was removed to his home and Dr. A. R. Lyles of this city was summoned. After receiving surgical treatment Mr. Thompson's condition was reported as satisfactory. While he is suffering from the painful burns, his condition is not serious.

The blast blew a trapdoor from the pantry floor and the flames seared the windows and curtains in the room.

H.S. Dramatic Club Gives Reception

Old, New Members Provide Program at Tuesday Meeting

One of the most unique social events of the year at the high school was held yesterday afternoon as the old members of the Dramatic Club gave a reception for the new ones in the east study hall. The new members, most of them freshmen, although several upper classmen came out for the first time, were enrolled in the organization as the result of tryouts held last week.

Marjorie Warlick sang a solo and Veta Mae Walker and Doris Johnston presented a tap dance.

Then the new members found that they themselves were to furnish the rest of the program. They were divided into groups and told to give a stunt made up "on the spur of the moment." The resulting tomfoolery proved extremely entertaining to the older ones in the organization.

This is the first year that such a reception has been accorded the successful survivors of the Dramatic Club tryouts, but its success was such that it probably will become an annual affair.

Emily Walls is the president and Miss Frances Brown is the director.

Oak Park Minister To Take Pastorate At Grace Church

Rev. Morgan Williams To Preach Here; Havighurst Retired

Rev. Morgan Williams, pastor of the Euclid Avenue M. E. church at Oak Park, will succeed Dr. Freeman A. Havighurst to the pastorate of Grace M. E. church in this city, it was announced yesterday. Dr. Havighurst, who has served the local church six years, asked a retired relation to the Illinois Conference, which was granted by Bishop Waldorf during the annual conference at Rock Island.

Transfer of Rev. Williams from the Rock River conference to the Illinois conference is expected within a few days, and it is probable that he will occupy the Grace pulpit Sunday.

He is 45 years of age, and one of the best known ministers of the Rock River conference.

Dr. and Mrs. Havighurst are preparing to remove to Bloomington, where Dr. Havighurst will continue to engage in religious work, but on a retired relation basis.

At distant as nine months ago Dr. Havighurst considered taking a retired relation to the conference, but later indicated that he would accept another charge in the Illinois conference if the conference officials wished him to do so.

During the recent annual conference Dr. Havighurst was offered several churches in the Rock River conference of equal strength of Grace church, but not desiring to leave the Illinois Conference, again expressed a wish that he be placed on the retired relation list, which was granted.

The retiring pastor of Grace church will preach occasionally and engage in religious work, although not on regular assignment.

Dr. Eugene K. Blair, 60 Years a Dentist, Honored At Waverly Dinner Meet

Sixty years ago, Dr. Eugene K. Blair, a twenty year old graduate of the Missouri Dental College, hung his shingle in front of an office in Waverly—a professional signature that was to command the respect of his fellow citizens, national and state recognition among dentists, and culminate last evening in a dinner meeting given for him in Waverly by the G. V. Black district dental society.

The dinner was given by the ladies of the M. E. church, in the church basement. The program of speaking and introduction of guests followed.

Those who gave brief talks were: Dr. J. D. White, Washington University Dental school which is the successor to the Missouri Dental college. Dr. White pointed out that Dr. Blair was the oldest living graduate of the school.

Dr. C. N. Johnson, of Chicago, editor of the American Journal of Dental surgery; Dr. McKee, Benton, Illinois, president of the Illinois State Dental society; Dr. C. H. Girard, Rock Island, secretary of the state society; Dr. George T. Winter, St. Louis, past president of the American Dental association; Dr. P. B. Noyes, Chicago, Dean of the Illinois College of Dental Surgery and formerly associated with Dr. G. V. Black in scientific work; Dr. Carl E. Black, Jacksonville surgeon, and son of G. V. Black; E. L. Burroughs, Edwardsville, past president of the state society; and Attorney William Hairgrove, Jacksonville, who began the practice of law in Waverly and is an intimate friend of Dr. Blair; Dr. Ellisworth Black, Jacksonville surgeon, son of Dr. Carl Black; Dr. Alexander, Cincinnati, now in his 53rd year of practice.

Dr. Burroughs presented Dr. Blair with a large bouquet of roses at the conclusion of his remarks. A large number of associates and friends in Waverly then were called on for brief words. Their appreciation reflected the years of unselfish service he has given to the community of Waverly as president of the high school board, member of the city council, and his twenty-six years as secretary of the library board.

Dr. J. T. Yates, Springfield, the townmaster of the evening. He was introduced by the president of the G. V. Black dental society, Dr. Anton Gerster, Springfield.

Dr. Blair then concluded the program with an address, which follows, in part:

"The first thought, that naturally comes to the mind, is what were the conditions, and why did one select Waverly as a location sixty years ago. When I tell you that there wasn't a telegraph pole in miles of the town, and that the train from Jacksonville to Virden, passed through at p. m. and returned the next morning at 8 a. m., having spent the night in Virden, and our only knowledge of the time to reach the station for the railway people would tarry long enough for all who cared to go to put in an appearance. You can see how primitive conditions were."

"Dr. T. L. Gilmer, the oral surgeon of national reputation, had practiced dentistry for five years in this place. Planning to go to Quincy, from which point he later migrated to Chicago, an advertisement in a dental journal, seeking a buyer for his office, led me to visit this locality. Impressed with the evident richness of the surrounding farming community, a trade was soon consummated, and time has not found me regretting my residence here."

"With local surroundings so agreeable, the most natural tendency to broaden the field of activity, led me to seek contact with fellow practitioners. My application for membership in the Illinois State Dental Society was endorsed by Drs. G. V. Black and Thos. L. Gilmer, a compliment fully appreciated."

Progress in Science
"The world's progress in science and art was nowhere more manifest than in the new and younger dental profession. In fact, a closer observation, as a member of the Illinois State Dental society, proved clearly that this state was fast assuming an enviable position in the progress of the profession."

"Jacksonville, our county seat, was the home of Dr. G. V. Black, the 'father of dentistry.' The latch string was on the outside at his home and office to many callers, who benefited by contact with this student and practitioner, who burned the midnight oil in his research work. A close personal acquaintance with him, led one to wonder how he could endure, apparently without fatigue, his almost superhuman labors in every branch of his chosen profession."

"Your presence tonight, finds my vocabulary inadequate to express my thanks for the honor conferred. When you gave notice of this meeting, my first thought was you were overestimating my standing in the profession, and my next thought was—I hope I have, as best I could, rendered a just and faithful service to a generous clientele."

"To my alma mater—the Missouri Dental School and St. Louis Medical colleges—now the dental department of the Washington University, there is a debt due. On all occasions we were, as students, urged to be honest and faithful to everyone."

"To the dental societies that I have been permitted to fellowship with, there has always been an elevating influence, beneficial to all. Tonight we feel a decided regret at the absence of those whose names are marked with an asterisk in the annual catalogues."

"So long a career as my own, the number of valued friends, who have gone on before, is surprisingly large. Peace be to their ashes, with a clear memory of their splendid records, not to be forgotten."

"Thanking you all for your generosity and kind feelings, on this, to me, a most memorable occasion, My blessings to one and all. We well know that 'the American home is the bulwark of the Republic' and I trust each and every one of you may find as pleasant a home and surroundings, as I have enjoyed in the little country town for sixty years."

Representatives will attend from Christian, Menard, Sangamon, Cass, Scott, Brown, Pike, Greene, Schuyler, Adams, Jersey and Mason counties. Slight changes have been made in the following committees:
